From The Horse's Mouth

Hello friends

We are back to warm your hearts and put a smile back on your faces with the reports of what we did in the months of spring 2023.

We had an action packed quarter between January and March 2023. We have moved on after our name change. As a matter of fact we are loving our new name. "Community" in place of "Society" encompasses a much larger scope of work and group of people. This transition has made little or no impact within our staff and we are tickled that our community continues loving us for the work we do, not for how we are known.

Jhoomta Mausam Mast Mahina

Started the New Year with some fun and frolic for our staff and supporters. In the backdrop of the timeless legacy of Hindi film songs of the 60s and 70s, donors, supporters, friends and Team Thane CPCA came together to enjoy an evening away from daily work. The proceeds were used for supporting critical surgeries for unowned street animals

A dog was brought with extensive injury to the ear pinna. Due to pain and irritation he started self mutilation. To prevent further complications, surgical correction was decided on.

After all the necessary pre-operative tests reported normal, Pinnectomy was done under general anesthesia by Dr. Shardul Salvi, by amputating part of the ear without affecting it's hearing ability. In textbook lingo, Pinnectomy maybe termed as a simple, relatively non-invasive procedure in which the pinna is removed. But to manage an animal post surgery is a Herculean task. Luckily, no complications were observed throughout the postoperative phase of healing and he was discharged merrily to two very happy faces.

Electrocution cases are the most common issues with local wildlife. As urbanisation spreads it's claws, our wildlife is bound to suffer. This severely electrocuted sub adult primate was released successfully after a month of Intensive Medication, lots of nutritious food, fun and frolic, and a lot of TLC. But as always, treating an active but wounded wildlife is a challenge, we appreciate our animal handlers and vets for doing the impossible, daily...

lives on in our

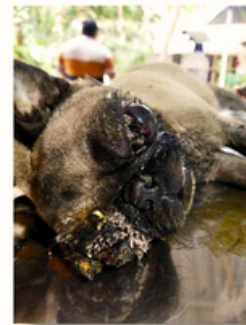

Dashu, Dubriya, Popeye, he has as many names as his admirers. Apple of everyone's eyes at our hospital. A seasoned model, always knows how to give the best poses for any camera. Bouncing with energy despite a serious internal physical problem. We could not get him adopted which is to our advantage, because we get to spend a magical three years with a magical soul. We write this in Present Continuous Tense, because though he left his physical body, Dashu is always with us in spirit.

This is what the modern disposable culture looks like. If you look long enough, it's a Pug, with eyes that are completely eaten by maggots. He was rescued from a garbage dump, where he was thrown packed in a sack. He underwent enucleation of both eyes after his eyes were cleaned of hundreds of maggots, followed with intensive medication to stabilize him. He may have lost his vision forever, but not his spirit, nor his hopes for a Forever Home. Two families are standing by to adopt him, once he is declared fit.

When we made an appeal to New India Assurance Company to fund us for a Laser Equipment, we were trepidated about it's optimal usage.

Look at Fighter, whose wound was treated with the Laser, whose recuperation period was dramatically shortened with the use of Laser technology. This Photo Bi Modulation Laser Therapy System is a drug free, non invasive, non toxic adjunctive therapy that manages multiple disease conditions. Since then, we have treated multiple animals successfully with the PBM system. Thanks to advancement in Veterinary technology, and donors who support us.

It's always such a pleasure to handover community dogs to their selfless caretakers after their recovery . Had it not been for these Heroes, this dog might have died a slow painful death in some corner, unknown, untreated and unloved. Hats off to these animal overs who look so minutely at every animal to notice a torn tongue, or the smallest of wounds.

Blessed are animal rescuers, they fall in love a thousand times. Their wallets may be constantly empty, but their hearts are always full

EPILOGUE

It's hard to believe how true these words are : "Ask and you shall receive". Those who have read our Wishlist in our last 2 editions, will be thrilled to know that every request we made, from the apparently humble newspaper to dog and cat beds, from room heater to steam cleaner, Dettol to Sodium Hypochloride, have reached us. And someone keeps sending heaps of chocolates , much to the thrill of our staff.

GRATITUDE

“We know you have a lot of choices when it comes to donating, and we are so grateful that you chose to donate to our cause. Every donation is unique, every donation is incomparable. We promise to be responsible stewards of both your donation and your trust.”

Thank you

We can continue to reach out to street animals only with your support. We cannot wait to see how many lives we will be able to impact together in 2023-2024.
