It’s our duty and

The Invisible chain behind every life saved

A rescue often begins with something very small: someone stops. In a city accustomed to moving quickly, one person notices an animal lying beside a road, sheltering under a vehicle, trapped in a drain, or struggling with an injury. That person decides that the suffering cannot be ignored. A telephone call is made, a photograph is sent, a location is shared—and an entire chain of compassion is set in motion.

When an animal reaches our hospital, it is natural to see the rescue as a single event. We may remember the ambulance arriving, the veterinarian beginning treatment, or the moment the animal finally stands again. But no rescue is ever one act, and no life is ever saved by one person alone.

Behind every patient is the alert citizen who first noticed; the rescuer who remained at the location; the ambulance driver who negotiated traffic; and the attendant who lifted a frightened or injured animal without causing further pain. At the hospital, a veterinarian examined the patient, but the work did not end with diagnosis. Someone prepared the medicines. Someone cleaned and dressed the wounds. Someone disinfected the enclosure, washed the bedding, offered food and water, updated the records, answered calls from an anxious caregiver, and watched through the night for the smallest change.

There are also people whom the animal may never see. A donor helped pay for medicines, equipment, fuel or food. A volunteer carried our message into the community. A foster family opened its home. A member of our administrative team maintained the systems that allow medical work to continue. Our Board and Executive Committee made decisions, solved problems and protected the values on which this organisation stands. Each action may appear separate, but together they form the pathway from suffering to recovery.

This is why I have come to believe that compassion is not only an emotion. It is cooperation. It is the willingness of people with different responsibilities, abilities and resources to come together for a life that cannot ask them to do so.

There are days when animal welfare work can feel overwhelming. For every animal we treat, another call is waiting. For every cruelty case resolved, another reminds us how far society still has to travel. No individual can carry this burden alone, and no organisation can answer every need without the community beside it.

Yet the opposite is equally true: when each person carries one part of the responsibility, what seemed impossible becomes possible. The passer-by need not know veterinary medicine. The veterinarian need not drive the ambulance. The donor may never enter the treatment ward. The volunteer may contribute only a few hours. What matters is that each person completes their part of the circle and trusts another pair of hands to continue the work.

Over the years, Thane CPCA has grown from a small beginning into a comprehensive animal healthcare facility. Buildings, diagnostics and systems have strengthened us, but the true foundation of our work remains this human network of attention and responsibility. The hospital is where many rescues become visible; the community is where they begin.

In this Annual Report, the figures represent animals treated, vaccinated, rehabilitated, released or rehomed. But behind every number is also a gathering of human beings who chose to care. Statistics can measure the reach of our services; they cannot fully measure the patience, courage, sleeplessness, generosity and faith that made those services possible.

Therefore,

To our staff, rescuers, volunteers, donors, advisers, foster families, supporters and fellow organisations—and to every citizen who stopped instead of walking past—I offer my heartfelt gratitude. You remind us that even in a large and hurried city, compassion can travel swiftly from one person to another.

No rescue happens alone. Every life saved is a shared achievement, and every act of kindness becomes stronger when another person is willing to carry it forward.

With gratitude,

Shakuntala Majumdar

President, Thane CPCA

Every Life Counted

Big changes, bigger hearts, and lots of wagging tails—that is what the year 2025–26 has been all about here at the Thane CPCA ! Over the last year, our team has been working around the clock to give Thane's street animals, wildlife, and birds the second chance they deserve.

Looking back at the past twelve months, "busy" feels like an understatement. Our hospital has been buzzing, our mobile ambulances have been hitting the roads non-stop, and our team has poured their hearts into every single rescue. The Peppy & Ginger wing shattered a long-standing myth: that street animals only deserve basic healthcare. Last year, we put our whole selves in adding modern diagnostic equipments, expanding services with more staff and teaming up with wonderful partners to make veterinary care more accessible.

By overcoming our space limits, this expansion brings advanced diagnostics to destitute animals on par with private pet care. Behind every statistic in this report is a life saved, a community member who called for help, and a supporter who made it possible. We are incredibly grateful of what we have achieved together, and we are excited to share the journey with you.

Vision

To be the preferred support system for animals in need, operating a state-of-the-art hospice treating all species and pedigrees equally, driven by value-driven operations.

Thane CPCA's performance during the last Financial year highlights several key areas.

Massive Increase in Patient Reach :

With the new wing operational, Thane CPCA successfully provided medical attention and care to 23,054 animals and birds, a direct jump from 18,258 animals in the previous year. Historically growing from just 180 patients annually to managing tens of thousands of patients, this surge highlights a community becoming significantly more aware, compassionate, proactive, and an escalating demand for emergency medical care for street animals in the Thane district.

Medical and Surgical Milestones

The wing was equipped with advanced medical infrastructure that allowed the medical team to take on more complex procedures.

438 critical surgeries were successfully carried out.

2,885 animals were inoculated to shield community animals from fatal outbreaks.

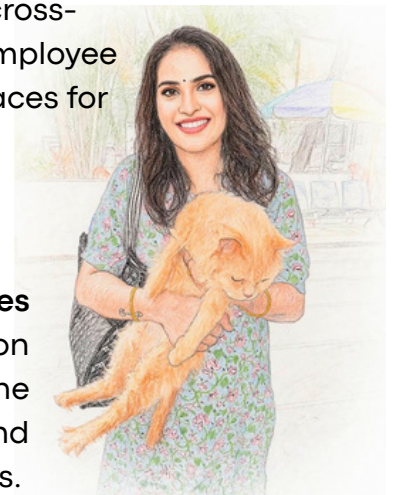

Operational Improvements & Diagnostics

By moving out-patient departments (OPD) and administrative services to the new annexe, along with providing resting and changing rooms for the staff, the hospital significantly reduced cross-infection risks and increased employee appreciation of designated spaces for them.

Finding New Homes

By championing the ethos of "adopt, don't shop," our adoption initiative Pawdopt worked hand-in-hand to provide a vital lifeline for 94 abandoned and destitute dogs, cats, rabbits, birds and tortoises.

National Recognition

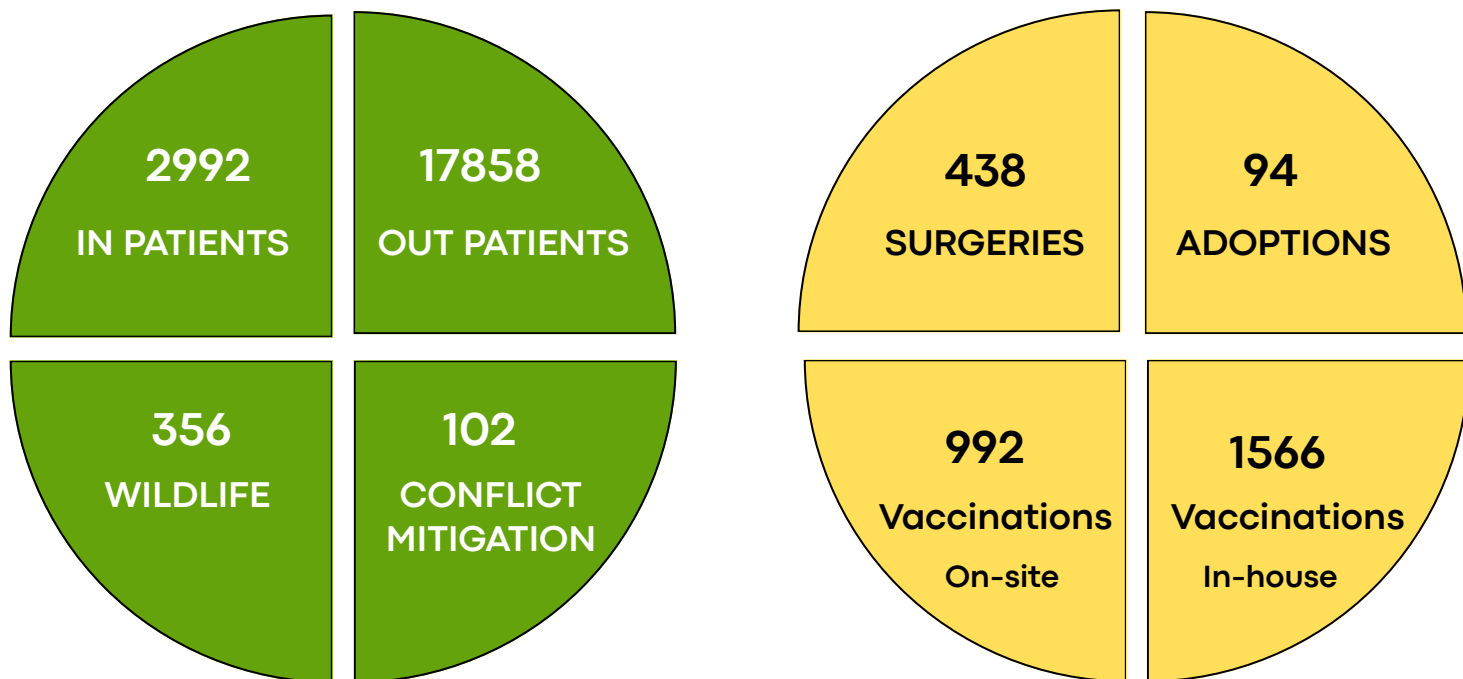

Capping off a highly successful transitional year, the NGO received the Guidestar India Champion Level Platinum Certification for the sixth consecutive year.

This award validated their rigorous operational ethics and financial transparency during a period of heavy growth.

Community Reach Metrics

Disclaimer: We understand that our readers do not always appreciate graphic images. However, as a tribute to our staff, to put forth the reality of the kind of cases they deal with everyday, and the suffering that street animals undergo on a daily basis, we are taking the liberty to share this collage of some of our daily cases.

Mission Statement

Profoundly aware of the value of each animal, we aim at living our mission every day by serving our community animals with committed compassion to relieve them of their suffering and to restore their health swiftly, scientifically and humanely, while protecting and lobbying for their natural rights.

Employee Overview

The dedicated employees of the Thane CPCA serve as the compassionate heartbeat of the organization's life-saving mission. Guided by a profound love for all life forms, this passionate team—ranging from senior veterinarians and hospital administration to relentless rescue vehicle drivers and support staff—works tirelessly day and night to treat, rehabilitate, and protect the district's stray, abandoned, and wild animals. Even when facing harsh conditions like multi-day water shortages or prolonged power cuts, these everyday heroes routinely put their own comfort and safety at risk to ensure every animal is cleaned, fed, and humanely treated. Their unwavering synergy and commitment are what keep the only full-fledged animal hospital in the Thane district running, transforming compassion into actionable, round-the-clock care for creatures that cannot speak for themselves. Whether administering critical surgeries, managing rehabilitation plans, or managing high-volume caseloads without ever compromising on the quality of treatment, their unwavering commitment and efficient teamwork allow us to scale our impact, transforming and saving the lives of countless vulnerable animals each year.

Here, we take the opportunity to thank them, and bless them for all that they do.

The Power of Your Support

Every successful surgery, every wagging tail, every flight of a healed bird returning to the sky is a shared victory. None of this would be possible without the unwavering commitment of our generous donors, veterinary and para veterinary staff, our tireless Support staff, our Rescue Vehicle drivers and our Administrative staff. You are the backbone of Thane CPCA, the Invisible Chain that holds the place together. Your support translates directly into medicine, food, shelter, and a second chance at life for animals who have no voice of their own.

The following roll of honour celebrates the individuals, families, foundations, and corporates who anchored our mission this year from behind the scenes. Every rupee contributed, every resource shared, and every monthly pledge made has been a building block for a kinder Thane. Whether you joined us as a first-time donor, a corporate CSR partner, or a lifelong guardian of our shelter, your belief in our mission is what makes this work sustainable. While we have made every effort to ensure this list accurately reflects our community of supporters, our gratitude extends equally to the many anonymous donors and supporters whose quiet contributions continue to transform animal welfare every single day.

On behalf of our veterinary teams, our handlers, and the animals who cannot speak to say it themselves—thank you for being their voice.

Ethical Accountability as a Core Principle

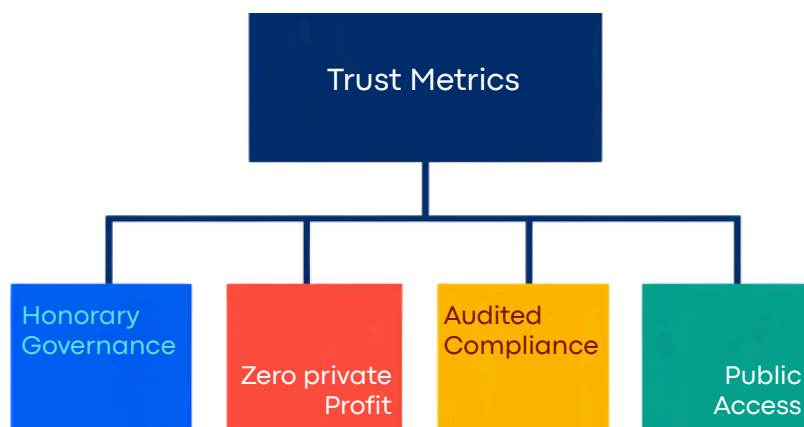

Our financial operations undergo an intense multi-layered review before finalization:

- Independent Statutory Auditing: Our accounts are regularly maintained and verified by an independent Statutory Auditor (appointed at the Annual General Body Meeting). Comprehensive sittings with the Audit firm ensure meticulous cross-checking of all books, bank balances, and physical vouchers.
- The Annual Accounts have been prepared based on the accounting policies which comply with the existing accounting standards and include amounts based on informed judgments and estimates of the Management.
- Thane CPCA follows a rigorous audit process, internal as well as external. The Audit Report finalization takes place after several sittings with a team of Chartered Accountants and after complying with all their queries.
- The Auditors have worked independently without bias.

Rigorous Audit Processes and Regulatory Compliance

Financial Stewardship and Uncompromising Transparency

- The Governing Body ensures that every single rupee entrusted to Thane CPCA is maximized for direct clinical impact. Operating under a framework of complete financial transparency, the board ensures the organization adheres strictly to the Bombay Public Trust Act .
- We openly share financial information with donors, partners, and the public through accessible annual reports and other publications.
- We safeguard assets and minimise errors or fraud by segregating financial duties and conducting regular transaction reviews.
- We engage external auditors to conduct objective assessments of our operations and financial practices.
- We create and monitor comprehensive budgets to track expenses against planned allocations and ensure financial discipline.
- All transactions are supported by standardised records, including invoices, receipts, and grant agreements.
- We present data in a clear, contextual narrative that links financial figures to our mission and impact.

Strict Statutory Alignment : The Board continuously maintains compliance with the Income Tax Act of 1961, central tracking via the NITI Aayog Darpan portal, and publishes audited accounts on it's website as a measure of transparency.

Budget & Resources

Unlike for-profit businesses, we, like any other NGO, rely heavily on donations, grants, and fundraising events to secure operational capital. A significant portion of our budget is consumed by non-negotiable costs, including veterinary care, specialized medications, nutritious food, and facility upkeep. To stretch these thin financial lines, we frequently leverage non-monetary resources, such as dedicated volunteer labor, foster care networks, and corporate partnerships for donated supplies. Strategic resource allocation ensures that funds are prioritized for direct animal care and emergency rescues while keeping administrative overhead minimal.

Whether it's a hospital or a shelter, or even a clinic with limited timings, running an animal facility is not just tough, it is fatigue inducing, since the percentage of supporters in this field is comparatively smaller, and because funding is almost always dependant on private sources.

But transparency matters : clear spending display builds strong donor trust, maintains donor support and sustains rescue work. Thane CPCA's primary funding comes from donations made by individuals, private trusts, corporates, and foundations. Additional income is generated through subsidised treatment charges from patients at our hospital. Your support translates directly into medicine, food, treatment, and a second chance at life for animals who have no voice of their own. And our Guidestar Platinum Certification is privity to our commitment to good governance, transparency and public accountability.

As a statutory requirement for all NGOs, our 24th Annual General Meeting was conducted on 13th September 2026, well within the specific timeframe after the fiscal year ended, to maintain our legal status.

Keep Us Going

While the Management at Thane CPCA is eternally grateful for all that you have done for us, to bring us where we are today, we would benefit greatly through ongoing active participation, financial contributions, and advocacy from the community to sustain daily rescue and rehabilitation operations.

Direct Support and Volunteering

- Shelter work: Assisting with daily tasks like supporting our medical team while they handle daily cases, feeding, cleaning enclosures, and grooming animals.
- Animal handling: Walking dogs, socializing timid animals, and aiding recovery in physical therapy units.
- Field rescue: Helping our mobile clinic team to treat injured or distressed street animals

Fostering and Adoption

- Temporary foster care: Opening homes for injured, young, or recovering animals to free up critical shelter space.
- Adoption promotion: Choosing to adopt homeless pets rather than purchasing purebreds, and encouraging others to do the same.
- Virtual adoption: Funding the maintenance and food costs of specific resident animals remotely.

Financial and Material Donations

- Monetary funds: Providing regular or one-time financial support to cover medical bills, staff salaries, and facility upkeep.
- Supplies: Donating essential items like pet food, blankets, medicines, and surgical gear.

Advocacy and Education

- Spreading awareness: Sharing rescue campaigns and educational messages on social media or in neighborhoods.
- Community outreach: Participating in local vaccination and sterilization drives, or helping host educational programs in schools.
- Responsible pet ownership: Practicing timely vaccinations and neutering/spaying for personal pets while guiding peers to do likewise.

Ramesh Kacholia: India's Bridge of Compassion

True philanthropy does not always reside in corporate boardrooms or glossy annual reports. Sometimes, it is driven entirely by relational trust, an unyielding work ethic, and immense empathy. This was the life of Ramesh Kacholia, affectionately known as "Ramesh Uncle," who transformed the landscape of Indian charity through a rare blend of radical simplicity, deep empathy, and absolute trust.

In and around 2007-2008, Ramesh Uncle visited our organisation for the first time, and clearly, it was his first brush with animal care. He was overwhelmed to see a baby squirrel being handfed. Over the years, Thane CPCA was blessed to receive his blessings through donations that either came from him and occasionally from Lata Aunty, providing us seed money in our formative years and helping us to sustain our mission.

We remember him as the diminutive gentle personality gracing get-togethers of an informal set of philanthropists and NGOs in Mumbai. Around 2008, alongside partners like Nimesh Sumati and K.K. Jhunjhunwala, Ramesh Uncle co-founded Caring Friends, an extraordinary, revolutionary, informal philanthropic platform—which quietly mobilized hundreds of crores for grassroots non-governmental organizations across India without keeping a single rupee for administrative overheads. This unique philanthropic structure, maybe one of the earliest known, operated, by design, and by defying, traditional corporate models, without an office, a bank account or a hierarchy, taught us efficiency through equality. Caring Friends was a unique and direct link between elite corporate and individual donors and the neglected grassroots social workers.

Over the years, Caring Friends' lean model mobilized hundreds of crores for rights-based activists, rural development & environmental relief, healthcare & social rehabilitation, marginalised education and animal welfare organisations.

The last time we met him was at our latest Musical Night in 2024, organised by Caring Friends in support of Thane CPCA. Even with his failing health, he attended the show with gusto. In July 2026 at the age of 88, his passing was observed not just in solemnity, but in celebration of his legacy, the profound and lasting impact of how radical, joyous GIVING can change philanthropy. He has touched and transformed so many lives - from givers to takers - that transformed the world of philanthropy for the better. His legacy - invest deeply in profound human connection rather than in cold transactions, build a culture of humility and absolute trust and simply do good whenever and wherever you can.

Forever with all of us - Ramesh Uncle.
